HOW I USE NCS PROGRAMS TO HELP CLIENTS:

I use NCS programs to help clients understand, through a neuroscience-based course, how to let go of self-limiting patterns and engage in a full process of creativity and expansion. I deliver these programs in a full day or two half-days. The workshops may be completed with individual coaching sessions to cater to the specific needs of clients, managers and teams.

CLIENTS I HAVE WORKED WITH: (NCS clients noted with **)

- IBM **
- La Poste
- Natural History Museum Paris
- Quicksilver **
- MicroVIGILANCE Limited **
- Bissuary Organic Farm
- Atlantique Translation **
- LE COL Housing Program
- O. M. Consulting **
- Pomme de Pin Bakeries Paris

HOW I'VE HELPED CLIENTS USING NCS PROGRAMS:

I've worked with senior executives in one-day workshops and individual sessions. Attending the NCS programs, they were able to shift their way of thinking and behaving, leading to the setting of new strategies and significant business growth.

Through these highly interactive one-day events, teams and managers experienced breakthroughs that helped them ease the process of change and reach significant and measurable outstanding results.

For over a decade, Agnes worked in the movie industry helping filmmakers from around the World meet their public with great success. Then, passionate about the evolution of the human mind, she has been coaching individuals and groups for the past 10 years. She has helped CEOs, managers, artists and many others set themselves free from mental, emotional and psychological blocks. She is dedicated to helping others connect with their full potential and go beyond their limiting beliefs and think differently.

"Thank you for delivering the eyes-opening content of the NCS program with such intelligence, kindness and heart. This one-day journey gave me the stamina and methods to change aspects of my professional and personal life, with surprising and remarkable results within only a couple of weeks."

Organizations are realizing that employees are their greatest asset.

This workshop, developed by Dr. Joe Dispenza, neuroscientist and best-selling author, is an experience like no other. It is designed to help develop your staff into a creative, committed, and full engaged team.

The Change Your Mind...Create New Results workshop uses a dynamic combination of science, videos, and in-class practices to teach you how to maximize the most powerful tool available: your brain. As a result, participants will make significant shifts in perspectives and possibility thinking. These shifts translate into increased professional performance and collective organizational change.

With this workshop, and recommended group coaching, you will:

- Learn how the brain works and why this is important for change.
- Set intentions for you and your organization to create a culture of inspiration and shared purpose that stands as a foundation for growth and success.
- Apply practices, based on neuroscience, to create pathways to become more productive and create teams open to collaboration and new ideas.
- Experience how to mentally rewire your brain to be more creative and trusting, less rigid and fearful.

Dr. Joe Dispenza, researcher, best-selling author, and global lecturer, has worked closely with master trainers and curriculum design experts to create a program specifically designed to facilitate organizational change. Through a rigorous application, selection, and certification process, Dr. Dispenza has personally certified trainers to deliver this work.
